CERAMICS
ŌTAUTAHĪ
CHRISTCHURCH

- Learn how to create your own visual language through the development of workbook methodologies, facilitated practical classes and enjoy active peer support.
- Discover techniques, materials and the wonderful history of ceramics.
- Find contemporary practitioners and be inspired!

Develop your own unique ceramic voice and learn how to present or exhibit the work that you create to an audience.

Work can be developed using any of the many exciting genres available such as tableware, sculpture and art installation.

The programme is made up of studio specific courses held in Christchurch and complementary online courses facilitated by Dunedin.

The online papers add to your understanding of the history and theory of ceramics and art making, as well as drawing along with specific technical glaze methods and research methods.
